The Society of California Archivists was established to promote cooperation and exchange of information among individuals interested in the preservation and use of archival and manuscript materials in California and adjoining areas, to disseminate information on research materials and archival methodology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of matters of common concern.

The Society originated from the meeting, in July 1971, at the invitation of Lynn B. Donovan, of a representative group of archivists and manuscript curators in California, to discuss the formation of an archival organization as a means of response to the burden of personal expense involved for California archivists in travelling to out-of-state professional meetings and the need for a locally-oriented forum. This group acted as an ad hoc steering committee until the Society was formally voted into existence in October 1971, at an organizational meeting attended by 48 persons drawn from the California membership of the Society of American Archivists, the Manuscript Society, the Rare Books Section of the Association of College and Research Libraries and the Conference of California Historical Societies. The meeting elected a Steering Committee, which developed the Bylaws by which, with a few revisions, the Society is still basically governed; and it instituted annual meetings and a Newsletter published several times yearly, both of which remain important channels of communication and information exchange for a membership which has always been somewhat heterogeneous and is separated by considerable distances from the north to the south. In addition to regular meetings and workshops, the Society has over the years, sponsored a number of special events and activities to further professional education and raise the profile of the archival community in California, usually working in conjunction with other organizations and institutions, including the Society of American Archivists and the National Archives and Record Administration.

Provision was also made from the very beginning for the creation of committees, which, while varying over the years as to title, charges and procedures, have remained informal enough to enable the Society to respond quickly to specific needs and to offer opportunities for any member to participate easily in devising and shaping activities, if wishing to do so. Committee achievements include the passage in 1978 of state legislation specifically relating to the theft of library property, by a committee on archival security, under the chairmanship of James V. Mink.

Other efforts of the Society to meet its ongoing aims have included a questionnaire and review of objectives (1976-77) and the Committee of the Eighties Report on Goals for the ’80s (1981). The Society has made a major contribution to the dissemination of information on research materials by publishing a Directory of Archival Repositories in California in 1975, with an updated and expanded version in 1984.

-- Anne Caiger, January 1985

In July 1993 the Society was formally recognized and recorded as a non-profit Corporation. Articles of Incorporation were written and legally filed as were the Revised Bylaws. In accordance with the non-profit corporation status the elected governing body name was changed from Council to The Board of Directors.

SCA’s original bylaws provided for a two year term of office for both the President and the Vice President and a joint Secretary/Treasurer position. The growth of the membership and the amount of work involved in running the organization resulted in the 1977 revisions which included the following changes, effective for the 1978 elections: 1) Division of the Secretary/Treasurer position into the two offices of Secretary and Treasurer, 2) Reduction of the President's and Vice President's term to one year, and 3) Establishment of the Vice President as President-elect. As of 1993 incorporation the Council designation changed to Board, and in 1995 a Director-at-Large position was changed to be Membership Director with a term of two years. In 2015 changes to the California Nonprofit Corporations Code resulted in a change to SCA's bylaws such that the Immediate Past President became a voting member of the Board of Directors.

Committee History

Standing Committees are those committees that provide essential services to the Society. Permanent committees are established by the Bylaws or by the Board to cope with the ongoing tasks of the Society. While the Chair rotates and the tasks evolve, these groups generally function over many years. Standing Committees and their selection are described in Bylaws VI.1-2 (See also the current version of The Standard Code of Parliamentary Procedure by Sturgis).

Membership and Website Management Task Force
Term of Service: 2016-2018
Charge: The Membership and Website Management Task Force is charged with reviewing SCA's needs regarding our website functionality, membership, and events management. The task force will evaluate software vendors who could meet those needs, including Wild Apricot, and then recommend the best options to the SCA Board.
Chairs: Laura O'Hara and Maggie Hughes

Code of Ethics Task Force
Term of Service: 2018-2019
Charge: This special committee is tasked with reviewing SCA's need for a code of conduct, and to review the society's websites, programs, policies, and statements regarding the need for more inclusive language. The task force will make recommendations to the board regarding these potential needs, and if necessary also write a proposal to the board for creating a committee or other infrastructure to address these issues on an ongoing basis in the form of trainings, reporting, and review.
Task Force on Labor Issues within the Profession
Term of Service: 2019-2021
Charge: This special committee is tasked with reviewing labor issues within the archival profession. Specifically the Board is interested in gathering information on how labor issues might result in barriers to entry into the profession, opportunities for professional growth, and retention, and for the task force to suggest ways SCA can better advocate for its membership in this regard. The task force will be convened for a two-year period in which time it will produce the following deliverables:

- One member of the task force will serve as a formal liaison to work with other similar professional groups (for instance SAA’s Issues & Advocacy Section and DLF’s Working Group on Labor in Digital Libraries) to share updates and magnify/combine efforts of all groups towards common goal.
- Develop and distribute a survey of the SCA membership to determine the nature and scope of current labor issues among archives workers in the region (to be completed and analyzed by the Fall Board Meeting).
- Develop recommendations for guidelines and best practices for labor in archives.
- In its first year of work the task force will organize and facilitate opportunities for open discussions of the issue amongst the community.
- As part of a final report the task force will make recommendations as to how best SCA can provide ongoing forums for discussion amongst the community.
- As part of the final report the task force will make recommendations for guidelines and best practices for labor in archives.
- Consider the need for a new committee for labor, advocacy, and similar issues of interest to archives workers and as part of a final report make recommendation to the Board.
